CHARLES-TOWN.

An Account of what passed at New Windsor, the Place appointed by the Governor for an Interview with the CREEK Indians.

On the 8th of May his Excellency arrived at New Windsor, and met with Chigelly the King and several Headmen and Warriors of the Creek's, to whom (on the next Day) he spoke as follows.

Friends and Brethers,

I AM now to speak to the beloved Men and Warriors of the Lower Creek's, and as I perceive, by the few Conferences that I have had with you since I have been here, that you are Men of sound Sense and solid Judgment, my Words to you shall therefore be few, plain and clear, and they shall be spoken with Sincerity and Truth, for they shall flow directly from my Heart.

I am sent by the Great King George to be Head and Governor of all this Country; and before I left him he, like an indulgent Father, recommended these his People to me, that I should love and cherish them, but his Care was not confined to those alone, he was equally mindful of you, whom he likewise looks upon as his own Children, and therefore gave me Directions that you should be plentifully supplied with Goods by our Traders. I have informed myself whether they did so, and I find you lack nothing; you have Arms, Powder and Bullets to defend yourselves against your Enemies and to kill Deer; you have Paint to adorn your Persons; and Cloaths of all Kinds to cloath you, your Wives and Children, besides many other Necessaries for your Families. Who furnishes you with all these Things? None other than the English can do it. Cast your Eyes all around, and view the Nations that are in Amity with the French and Spaniards, the Chactaw's, the Illinois's, and Yamasee's, are they provided for as you are? You see they are not: What would then be the Consequence of your forsaking us your old Friends? You must exchange your Plenty for Poverty, your good Cloaths for Rags or Nakedness, and your Fire Arms for Bows and Arrows. But I know you have better Sense than to have any such Intention.

However, I was greatly surprized, to hear that some of your young People have been so rash and imprudent, as to kill Six of the Euchee's our Friends, who are settled amongst us, and have carried off others as Slaves; I therefore desire, that you will give no Countenance to such Proceedings, but procure Satisfaction to the injured Euchee's, and forthwith deliver up the Prisoners. I am sorry to hear likewise, that there have been very bad Talks lately in several of your Towns, which I am apt to believe are owing to Lies hatched by the French our Enemies, and propagated by their Agents; but I have taken this Journey to contradict them, and to set all Matters streight betwixt the English and the Creek's, and to assure you that we look upon you as Brothers; and therefore I hope, that for the Future you will give no Credit to such Falshoods, proceed from whom they may, for you may remember, that when you were at War with the Cherokee's, what Pains were taken by us to make a Peace betwixt you, which at length we did, and you see that I am now endeavouring to reconcile the Catawba's and Chickasaw's, and to make Peace betwixt them also. I hope you will look upon this Visit in the same Light. I promised to meet you here, and have kept my Word at the Time appointed, and I have now the Pleasure to see many of you who have never been in Carolina before since my Arrival, particularly you Abeky, and you my good Friend Chigelly, who have not been here these fifteen Years, I hope you will look upon this Visit as a Mark of the Regard I have for your Nation. I with these my beloved Men have left our Families, we have forsaken our own convenient Habitations, to sleep in Woods; the Rains have been heavy and constant, the Brooks are swelled into Rivers, and every River has overflowed its Banks, but I was determined that nothing should prevent my performing my Promise.

In my Way I have had Talks with the King of the Catawba's and his beloved Men and Warriors, and with the Emperor of the Cherokee's and most of the Headmen of that Nation, and am now come hither with these my beloved Men and Warriors to see our Brothers the Creek's, and the Chickasaw's, and to make all Things streight, and to brighten the Chain of Friendship that should link you all together and tie you close to the British Interest.

[The Creek's Answer will be in our next.]

LEGHORN, January 29.

WE learn by the Master of a Vessel, that came from Corsica on the 22d, that the English Men of War and Bomb-Vessels were before Calvi, and had summoned the Governor to surrender, and that the Inhabitants had no Inclination to stand a Bombardment. It is still said, that the English are to have two Ports in Corsica, in return for the Assistance given by them to the Inhabitants.

Madrid, Jan. 30. In Italy, the late Turn of Affairs calls for new Consels, wherefrom we are informed, that M. Maillebois and Count Gages differ extremely; and have carried their Difference to such a Length, as to write Satires on each other's Conduct. The Count is agreed on all Hands to be the best Soldier, the Marshal to have the best Secretary. The Count is for leaving a proper Number of Men to keep the Prince of Lichtenstein employed; and to march with the rest into the Modenese or Mantuan, in order to cut off the German Reinforcements as they arrive. The Marshal is for pushing on the Siege of the Castle of Milan and Town of Alexandria, and then for retiring into the State of Genoa; concluding, that before the Enemy can retake them, the Allied Army will be sufficiently reinforc'd, to be able to face the Enemy. Spain was thin of People before, but is now, in some Places, like a Wilderness. The States of Upper Castile have presented an Address to the King, praying him, to consider the Consequences which may attend the unpeopling the Country at this Conjuncture; and have been answer'd, That the King thanks them for their Care; that he will consider of it; and send for their further Advice when he wants it. In a Word, neither the Castilian Priviledges, nor the Religious Rights of the Church, are any Kind of Fence against the warm Pursuits of the Queen, and the Establishment of Don Philip in Italy.

Jan. 31. Our Ministers are fully employed in receiving and dispatching of Couriers, who arrive seven or eight of a Day; whence we conclude, that our Affairs are running retrograde in Italy; and are the more confirmed therein by the great Hurry wherewith we send away our Troops and Money. The Court look'd gay enough on the Arrival of the Treasure at Corunna; the Iodulto whereof amounts to Two Millions of Piastres, besides what is on the King's Account. But, as it comes here, so it walks away into Italy and France. It is rare any shews its Face here, except to be counted and repacked. We expect Nine Millions more from Panama and Mexico, which we presume will take the same Route so soon as it arrives.

Turin, Febr. 6. Our Thoughts are wholly turned here on putting a final Period to the War in Italy this Campaign; which we we are morally ſure will be the Caſe, if no unforeſeen Accident intervenes We ſhall be ſuperior to the Enemy by 15,000 Men; and hope, with Part of our Army, to be in the Heart of Provence by the Middle of June; and with the Reſt in Naples and Genoa The Prince of Lichtenſtein is in Motion with his Army; not to retire, as the Enemy gives out, but to join the firſt Column of the Reinforcements from Germany, and to attack the Enemy's Army before Milan When Notice of his Succeſs ſhall arrive, the King will immediately march at the Head of his Army into the Genueſe State. The Grand Scheme is to cut off the Enemies Communication with the Sea Ports; which, as the Seas now begin to be favourable, will be much forwarded by the Engliſh Fleet being able to keep the Coaſt.

Vienna, Feb. 2. The Capitation Tax is at laſt reſolv'd on; and the Method, not an ill Precedent for other Countries, People being tax'd according to their Rank, viz. a Prince, Count, or other Nobleman, at 600 Florins; the principal Officers of the Houſhold at 450; the principal Ladies at 300; the Gentlemen of the Chambers at 200; Privy Counſellors at 400; Council of the Regency at 200; the Clerks at 50; and the Merchants at 75 The Biſhops, and other Prelates, at 600; the Commons, Curates, and Religious, at 50, 25, to 3 a piece. In the Military; a Field Marſhal 400, a Captain 50, and the reſt in proportion Ordinary People and Servants 1 each; and the ſame for all Strangers without Employment The Women are tax'd according to their Rank, and pay half as much as their Husbands; and the Children the ſame as the Mother. This is the worſt Part of the Tax, as it falls heavieſt on thoſe who are moſt burden'd, and marry for the Good of the State. It is to be paid in a Month; the Delinquents to pay Fourfold. Prince Charles is to command in Chief in the Low Countries, and Count Traun is to have a joint Command with Prince Lichtenſtein, in Italy. Our Troops are directed to march to the Borders of the Adriatick, and to embark there under the Convoy of the Engliſh Squadron; which it is propoſed will ſave Time, and prevent their being fatigued, or deſerting in their further March; and be landed in ſuch Part of Italy as may be found moſt proper.

Ghent, March 20 They write from Breſs, that the Squadron which the Duke D'Anville is to command will certainly ſail towards the End of this Month, or at fartheſt in the Beginning of April: It conſiſts of Nine Men of War, three Frigates, and two Fireſhips, and ſome other arm'd Veſſels. Beſides theſe theſe there are four Men of War in the Road of that Port, which only wait for a favourable Wind in order to put to Sea 'Tis added, that there are alſo gone out of Rochefort ſome Men of War, and theſe ſeveral Squadrons are to join at a certain Latitude; but for what Purpoſe they are deſign'd, is not publickly known.

Paris, March 20. The Nine Battalions lately made Priſoners at Aſti by the King of Sardinia, were ſome of the beſt Troops we had in Italy. We have Advice, that General Bareuclau, after aſſembling in the Mantuan all the Auſtrian Troops lately come from Germany, paſſed the Po at St. Benedetto, and marched to Parma; from whence he was proceeding directly to Voghera, in order to join the King of Sardinia on this ſide the Po; whilſt General Pallavicini remains in the Cremoneſe, in order to prevent the Junction of 10,000 Neapolitans with the Army of the Infant. By theſe different Motions Guaſtalla, Parma, and Placentia will be evacuated The Siege of the Caſtle of Milan is deferred.

Paris, March 25. Count Waſſenaer expects every Moment his Courier back from the Hague, on Account of whoſe Return it is ſaid M Saxe's Journey to the Army is poſtponed Our Affairs go ſo very ill in Italy, that beſides 20,000 Men that are to march out of Provence and Dauphiny, Orders have been ſent to detach 10,000 more from Alſace The Prince of Conti is not yet ſet out for the Army; and we begin to apprehend that the Misfortunes that have befallen us in Italy, will prevent the Execution of a great Deſign that had been formed on the Side of Germany

Vienna, March 20 This Afternoon died Prince Lobkowitz, univerſally lamented

Hague, March 31. The Auſtrian Troops from Bohemia will be all in Brabant within a few Days. Our Advices repreſent the French as lying ſtill quiet in Prince Waldeck's Neighbourhood. That General has extended the Left of his Cantonment almoſt to Louvain, to facilitate the Junction of the Auſtrian Regiments, which arrive ſucceſſively from that Side. The French have ſuffered the States to ranſom their Sick that were left in Bruſſels, but continue ſilent upon the Article of the reſt of that Garriſon, which, in the mean Time, they tranſport to the remoteſt Parts of France. We hear from Paris, that the Marſhal Duke De Noailles was juſt ſent by that Court to Madrid, on an important Commiſſion
